

DANCEWAVE COMPANY

dancewave.org/youth-company

Dancewave

Contact: Cindy Folgar Dancewave Director of Programs & Partnerships school@dancewave.org

2021-2022 Media Kit

Cultivating courageous & intelligent artists

Dancewave Company Program is a rigorous dance training program that builds ability, artistic integrity, and essential life and leadership skills.

PROGRAM BENEFITS:

- 5 divisions for students from ages 7-18
- Challenging technical training in Modern, Ballet, and non-Western canon techniques
- Rehearsals with renowned artists
- Performing opportunities
- Individualized coaching & mentorship
- Whole-person development
- "Regroup" discussion sessions
- Focus on racial equity & activism
- College Counseling and access to our unique nationwide college dance fair, Dancewave Through College & Beyond

Shael

Dancewave Company II
and student for 10 years:

"...was hopping around to [several different] dance studios then felt an immediate connection and chemistry with Dancewave and felt really comfortable... [and thought] 'This is the dance space that lets me explore what I want to do as a dancer.'"

Photo: Hayim Heron, courtesy of Jacob's Pillow

Dancewave Company has a long legacy of learning and performing repertory alongside renowned contemporary dance artists in their prime.*

Cheryl Rosario and more Dancewave
Company perform
"From Before" by Garth Fagan, 2009.

588 hours of Company class and rehearsals per year, or up to 21 hours per week

Photo: Alex Escalante

Past Artists:

Kyle Abraham
Alexandra Beller
Camille A. Brown
Ronald K. Brown
Trisha Brown
Donald Byrd
David Dorfman
Julia Ehrstrand
Mike Esperanza
Larry Keigwin
Garth Fagan
Jamal Jackson
Bill T. Jones
LeeSaar
Jose Limon
Andrea Miller
Bebe Miller
Meredith Monk
Elisa Monte
Mark Morris
Annie-B Parson
Twyla Tharp
Paul Taylor
Kate Weare
Shen Wei
Patrik Widrig
Urban Bush Women
Yin Yue and many more!

responding to COVID-19

Our administrative team, teaching artists, and coaches have collaborated tirelessly to ensure a dynamic Company experience throughout the COVID-19 crisis:

- Outdoor rehearsals
- In-person with masks whenever possible
- Virtual performances
- Pre-recorded video art collaborations with artists
- Incorporating writing and self-reflection
- Using Zoom to unlock new creativity

Camila

Dancewave Company III
and student for 6+ years:

"Our Virtual DCIII performance was a letter to our future selves. We used Zoom as an advantage, covered our cameras up, turned it upside down, [and performed as if we were] passing energy through the screen. Physically... I thought the dance was very powerful and want to continue doing things like this."

The Brooklyn Paper • www.brooklynpaper.com • (718) 224-2200

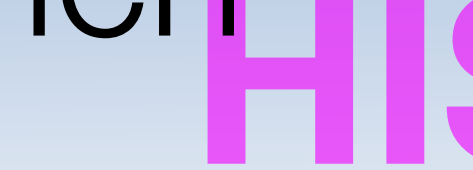

troupe wows in Scotland

The troupe landed the troupe some worldwide attention. But the dancers' real mission was to spread the word about the importance of dance in education. The troupe's 10 members, aged 10 to 15, performed a series of routines that showcased their skills and the power of dance to bring people together. The troupe's performance was a success, and they were invited to perform at several other venues in Scotland.

Kids' Cafe Workshops Give Talented Children a Chance to Shine

Dancewave's Kids' Cafe workshops will be held June 12, 11 a.m. - 3 p.m. at the Tribeca Center for the Performing Arts at the College Theater 2. It is a fun-filled day of creative and dance for children ages 5 and up. The workshops are led by professional dancers and choreographers. The cost is $10 per workshop. For more information and registration, call (622-1810 or (212) 252-2200).

a rich HISTORY

Key Artistic collaboration with Mark Morris Dance Group helped to spark the Youth Company program. Dancewave students performed Morris' "L'Allegro, il Penseroso ed il Moderato" -- the first time a collaboration between an established artist and recreational youth dancers had ever been seen in the NYC area. Morris was inspired to see new life spring from his work when performed by young dancers.

2010 Dancewave Company performed powerful works by David Dorfman and Garth Fagan as the only American program represented at the Aberdeen International Youth Festival in Scotland. Racial tensions among NYC teens at this time sparked the introduction of coaches, "Regroup" discussion sessions and individualized mentoring to the program.

Learn more about Dancewave's dynamic 26-year history at dancewave.org 1995 Dancewave founded by Diane Jacobowitz as the Kids Cafe Festival, a unique, celebratory event that highlighted performers in dozens of youth organizations from across all 5 boroughs.

Hundreds of students performed in Kids Cafe Festival performances from 1995-1999 in top NYC venues including BAM and The Kitchen.

1999 Dancewave's Youth Company is founded to expand students' artistic development within a professional company model.

2002 The first of 4 times the Company would be invited to perform at the acclaimed Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival, performing works by Mark Morris, David Dorfman, Andrea Miller/Gallim, and Kyle Abraham over the years. Students' command of these socio-politically driven works earned them a standing ovation and a meaningful post-performance talk with the audience.

2019 Grand opening of Dancewave's new state-of-the-art, LEED gold-certified facility in Gowanus, Brooklyn completed a multi-year journey to establish a full-size, full-service dance studio. Two spaces provide students an ADA-accessible home base to train, gather, perform, and continue their professional dance life in the heart of growing downtown Brooklyn.
Come visit us!

Company Life

notable performances

2015: Invited by Annie-B Parson to perform on NBC's Jimmy Fallon Show supporting pop singer St. Vincent's "Girl Talk."

2003: Performing Trisha Brown's "On the Floor of the Forest" at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

2016: (at top) Both Company students and alumni performed at Jacob's Pillow summer Dance Festival - Dancewave's fourth appearance! A highlight was "Pupil Suite" and "Snow" by GALLIM.

2010: Dancewave traveled all the way to Aberdeen International Youth Festival in Scotland for the trip of a lifetime!

ALUMNI

out in the world

Dancewave Company alumni leave our program as developed artists, ready to make an impact in the world--regardless of what form dance takes in their lives after graduation. One of our favorite outcomes? When alumni come back to work with us at Dancewave!

Nola Sporn Smith

2019 Bessie Nominee for her work in "metamorphosis" by Stacy Grossfield, The Kitchen, NYC

Photo: Paula Court

Park Cannon

Youngest Georgia lawmaker seated in 2016, and one of only three openly gay representatives at the time. Check out her 2016 interview with CNN.

"When I'm not working, I'm dancing. I love modern dance and use it as a healing practice. I have toured with NYC dance companies and created reproductive justice dance pieces."

From Park Cannon's website

Photo: E.M. Pio Roda/CNN

Maleni Cruz

Instagram Celebrity, Worldstar

Maleni returned to Dancewave to work as the Public School & Community Programs Coordinator from 2017-2019

Diane

Dancewave Founder & Artistic Director Emeritus:

Dancewave Company gives young people invaluable space to develop their minds, make choices, and build community. That's why we focus our curriculum so often on works with a socio-political focus. They leave our program knowing themselves deeply, ready to face the world.

Support a tuition-free Youth Company program

#STAND WITH DANCEWAVE

Contact: Aliya Perry

Special Events Director and Fundraising Strategy Manager

events@dancewave.org

Social Media:

@Dancewave | @DancewaveCompany
#StandWithDancewave

Website:

dancewave.org/stand-with-dancewave

Photo: Chris Duggan (this and next page)

building on a 26-year legacy

Our $50k fundraising goal will support tuition-free access to Dancewave's Company Program for up to 25 students ages 7-18 in 2021-2022.

You can help eliminate barriers to student success by becoming a champion for equitable access to holistic dance education. Join us!

Dancewave Company cultivates courageous, intelligent artists ready to face the world.

May 2021 Virtual Events

- Live Virtual Benefit + 50/50 Raffle
 - Exclusive archival documentary premiere & surprise guests
- Modern & Hip Hop Master Classes
- Behind-the-scenes Company Showings
- Meet & Greet with current students and alumni
- Peer Fundraising

Sponsor a dancer today! Visit:
dancewave.org/sponsors

#StandWithDancewave

Virtual Benefit

May 19, 2021

Jason Carter

Virtual Benefit Emcee

Hollywood Journalist and Television Personality as seen on VH1, CNN, NBC, Entertainment Tonight and more!

Benefit Event Highlights

- Company Program Documentary Premiere
 - Witness the beauty, vision, and impact of the Company Program through the eyes of Dancewave Founder, Diane Jacobowitz
- Lifetime Achievement & Honoree presentation
 - Dancewave Founder & Artistic Director Emeritus Diane Jacobowitz; (pictured right) and Past Board & Capital Campaign Co-Chairs Grace Freedman & Sabrina LeBlanc
- PLUS: Online Silent Auction & student video performances

Sponsorship Benefits

- Sponsor a student
- Branding opportunities
 - Press release, logo placement, live mention, social media & email marketing, and up to 10 tickets to access campaign events
- Promote your business/products with an exclusive video

Overall reach: 20,000